District Energy

Building Performance will look far beyond the construction and design of buildings and will consider the wellbeing agenda across new build, refurb and retrofit projects.

Building Performance, part of the futurebuild districts, will present the latest construction materials, products and technologies, showcasing leading brands responsible for the “envelope of the building” from windows, doors, roofing, cladding, insulation, surfaces, BIM and more. It will also include the UK’s largest gathering of international pavilions.

overall visitors

9,000+
building performance professionals*

**From Architects, Local Authorities, Installers, BIM Managers, Quantity and Building Surveyors, Designers, Research & Development, Engineers and Planners and Developers*

““We’ve been here for five years, and we’ve got bigger and better each year. The content within the show this year has been fantastic, and it means the footfall has been huge – it’s even been a challenge to keep up with the numbers of people visiting our stand. Within the first morning, we hit 25% of our targets. The quality of people we’re speaking too and the projects they’re working on has also been really high.” **”

Lizzie Seaton, Head of Marketing Communications, Celotex
